World Environment Day

Pope Francis published his encyclical on the environment – Laudato Si – a little over a year ago. He addressed it to all Peoples not just members of The Church. It was very well received on a global basis. Laudato Si challenges us to “translate willingness into new habits. Many people know that our current progress and the mere amassing of things and pleasures are not enough to meaning and joy to the human heart, yet they feel unable to give up what the market sets before them.” Pope Francis asks believers to reflect on our understanding of God and be clear about God’s love for the earth. He says “Our insistence that each human being is an image of God should not make us overlook the fact that each creature has its own purpose, none is superfluous. The entire material universe speaks of God’s love, his boundless affection for us.” The Theme of this Year’s World Environmental Day is “Join the race to make the world a better place.” Let us help to build pro-communities. June is the month to renew our personal commitment to recycle, reduce and reuse – also a time to join in the cultivation of the earth through gardening.
