Fathers' Day.

The New York Times once ran An Editorial to mark Fathers' Day. Here are some of their tips to fathers.

1. The way my children speak to each other is an accurate reflection of the way my wife and I speak to each other. Children are both sponges and mirrors .
2. Holding my children accountable for their own choices and decisions gives them the best shot at maturity.
3. Every criticism I give must be balanced at some point by a sign of acceptance and praise.
4. My children need my time, a lot of it – reading a story, fixing a broken toy or playing games are all of more value than working a sixty – hour week for things they do not really need.
5. There can never be too much laughter or music in a home.
6. Touching is more important than talking.
7. The child who drives me crazy making himself unlovable, is the child who needs my love the most.

*Next weekend June 25th/26th is the last weekend for notices for Parish Bulletin. The Office will close on July 1st for the month. There will be no bulletins for the month of July.
